

BIG IDEAS FOR SMALLER BATHROOMS

Geberit products are featured in the renovation of this Federation-style home in Sydney, combining premium design, handy storage and outstanding cistern technology for elegant and comprehensive bathroom solutions.

When the owners of this Federation style semi detached home in Sydney's Queens Park decided to renovate, they called on the expertise of architect Keith Glover and interior designer Trudi Scrymgour of Form Follows Function.

Trudi and Keith submitted designs for what turned out to be an extensive renovation; ultimately, only 2 of the original rooms remained.

The result is a compelling blend of old and new that respects the heritage of the home while making it relevant to the needs of today.

One of the biggest challenges Trudi had to overcome was the narrow footprint of the house, typical of the period. In the bathrooms, Geberit concealed cisterns offered a simple and elegant solution that maximised available floorspace. Trudi specified Geberit Kappa under counter concealed cisterns in all 3 bathrooms. Trudi also specified Sigma50 buttons in white glass.

Trudi is very familiar with Geberit cisterns. "I've been specifying Geberit concealed cisterns for years for both residential as well as commercial projects. They allow greater design freedom, with the ability to specify wall hung pans and feature continuous, uninterrupted tiling. They also allow freedom to blend in or contrast with the design of the rest of the room".

For Trudi, the direction in bathroom design is towards concealed cisterns. "They're aesthetically pleasing, neat and go hand in hand with streamlined bathroom designs. I really love the refined design of the buttons". Trudi usually initiates the recommendation for a concealed cistern and will invite clients to a showroom to view the range of button designs and finishes. "Once they experience the quality of the Geberit product they get a better understanding of how well made and reliable they are. Of course, being made in Switzerland is very reassuring".

Geberit's innovative button designs and concealed cistern technology has allowed users throughout the world to experience the luxury of well-designed modern bathrooms.

With experience spanning more than 50 years Geberit has developed an eye for premium button designs and precision Swiss manufacturing.

This has led to the installation of more than 60 million concealed cisterns worldwide.
